

Hi there, I'm Leah.

I'm a Vermont based web developer and UI/UX enthusiast.

About Me

I accidentally discovered web development working in the nonprofit realm. As I updated my company's websites, created an online member portfolio, and developed an online database for customers, my interest in tech was solidified.

I love to be creative and see things come to life which is why I love web development. I feel most in my element when I'm coming up with solutions to creative problems and learning along the way.

Argentina Quiz App

</> JS

My Argentina Quiz App leads users through a series of 10 questions about Argentina facts. The user is able to see the correct answer with a short description as well as see their score as they progress through the quiz.

Inspired by my years growing up in Argentina.

When I'm not working, you can find me reading a book, dancing salsa, or chasing my kids or chickens around that yard.

I live in the Burlington area with my husband, kids, dog, cat, and 5 chickens.
